St. Louis to Colorado via Wichtta.

Commencing Sunday, July 18,1880, the Missouri Pacific railway will run through sleeping cars from St. Louis via Pleasant Hill, Rich Hill, Fort Scott and Wichita to Geneseo and from thence to Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver. This change was made on account of a great many people from the east going to Colorado being desirous of going via Wichita. The train will stop here two hours, giving ali a chance to view the "Peerless Princess" and sputs and other standards are standards and other standards and other standards and other standards are standards and other standards and other standards and other standards are standards and other standards and other standards are standards and other standards are standards and standards and standards are standards are standards are st still land passengers in Colorado sam time as if they had gone via Kansas City It also gives the citizens of Wichita sleet ing car service from here to Colorado. He turning, it gives us through sleeping car service Wichita to St. Louis, and gives the Colorado people a chance to go east via Wichita. This change will undoubtedly be appreciated by the traveling publicand especially by the citizens of Wichita. If especially by the citizens of winning. It you are going east or west go via the popular new through route. Through char and sleeping car service. New route just completed between Fort Scott and Ran-Hill goes through the finest unineral and agricultural country in the west. Hon't force the new short line to St. Louis or Colorado.

City ticket office, 127 North Main street, Wichita, Kansas. 46-tf E. E. BLECKLEY, P. & T. A.

If you are going to any point north or east be sure and take the Great Rock Island train that leaves Wichita every day at 9 a. m. and reaches Kansas City he o'clock the same day and Chicago early the next morning. Remember the Rock Island Route is the only line between Wichita and Chicago on which you do not have to change trains. Evening train leaves Wichita at 950 p. m. City ticket office 100 E. The day, with its sandals dipped in dew, Has passed through the evening's golden gates And a single star in the cloudless blue For the rising moon in silence waits, While the wind that sighs to the languishing

A luliaby breathes o'er the folded flowers. The lilies nod to the song of the stream That winds along with a musical flow. And either awake or half in a dream I pass through the realms of the long ago, While faces so happy, with many a smile,

Shippers of Live Stock can save both Come from the magic bowers of Memory's isla. There are joys and sunshine, sorrows and tears,

To checker the path of life's April hours; A longing wish for the coming years Hope ever wreathes with the fairest flowers And friendships gulleless and love as bright As shine in the stars in the halls of night. And thus as the glow of the daylight dies, And the night's first look to the earth is cast, I gaze 'neath the beautiful star-gemmed skies

A Diminutive Millionaire. Jacob Seligman is the smallest million aire in the world. He is hardly more than 4 feet high, and he strikes you comically as having just stepped out of a museum collection. Pardon me, but he won't be offended. Nobody gets more fun out of his size, or rather want of size, than he does himself. Even when people, who intend to make him feel good, remark that if he were standing on his money be would be as big as the late lamented Irish glant, he smiles and says, "My littleness is what made me my money." And so it did truly in a degree, at least. In fact he realized the market value of his diminutive size so thoroughly that he had it copyrighted years ago. In the collection of quaint and curious trade marks at Washington you can find his "Little Jake."

He is reputed to be worth about $15,000, 000. He came from Germany when a boy, and went out to Michigan twenty nine years ago without a dollar. He grew up with the country, and managed to seize a pretty big slice of it while the process was taking place. He owns a railroad, a private bank, the greater part of a National bank, and only he knows what all besides. He is giving himself entirely to this sort of thing nowadays. It was in a mercantile pursuit, however, that he got his big start. He ran eleven clothing stores at once in Saginaw. It was in that business that his own trade mark, "Little Jake," did him so much good.-Cor. Philadelphia Press.

The Ubiquitous Tom.

"How did you sleep, dear?" inquired the landlady severely of the Young Lady Boarder, as she dished out some datmeal

"Not very well. There seemed to be some sort of trouble with the cats in the yard. I never heard anything like it."
"Did you hear it?" asked the landlady, passing the sugar, "it was my yellow cat Tom's fault. He sat down on the kitchen W window sill last evening, and the flypaper stuck to his tail. He jumped out before we could pull it off, and there seemed to be trouble all night, but this morning he came in with the paper still on him, and there were four different colors of fur, a piece of soap and a slipper stuck on be-sides."

"Did you get the paper off?" inquired the Young Lady Boarder, with much in-"Certainly not. I gummed the upper side, and he's out now waiting for the other slipper."-New York Tribune.

The Honor of the Thing. Dick D'Arcy having come up from Consedan chair by the waiter as a comfortable mode of getting to a ball. Though he had never seen or heard of such a conveyance he ordered and entered it, only to find that by some mistake it had no bottom. However, thinking it an elaborate metropoli-tan umbrella-for the night was wet-he headlong pace by the bearers, who were amazed at the lightness of their load, down the muddy streets to his destination. Here, breathless, battered black and blue, and bespattered to the face with mud, he ducked from under this last invention of civilization, and gasped out as he eved his plastered clothes, "Faith, if it wasn't for the honor of the thing I'd as lief have walked?"-Life of Lever. A Gloucester Hen's Queer Family. Daniel Parsons, who resides on the old alem road, has a curlosity in the shape of a hen which has adopted a litter of five kittens. The kittens have but just reached the open eyes period, and will follow the hen around the yard, she diligently scratching meanwhile for the festive worm or bug, as the case may be, which she tenders them as food as she would her chicks. When the kittens begin to cry the hen will tuck them under her wings, where they rest perfectly contented. Not being endowed by nature with the means of feeding her charge it has been found necessary to capture the hen and tie her up while the mother cat attends to her duties in this line. At all other times she has full sway, being valiant even to blows in the protect of the children of her adoption.-Cape

The Shoes of the London Swell. The exquisites have arrived at a fresh understanding about their soles. Boots, sputs and other covering for the feet have given place to dainty shoes. With his feet encased in a pair of brilliant "patent pumps," the man of taste, who by the bitterness of fate has to remain in town, man ages to loll through the sultriness of Au gust in a tolerably cool condition. His shoes are tied with black ribbon in a broad bow, and his trousers are so are broad bow, and his trousers are so arranged that the bow shall be fully displayed. This is clearly a prejude to the reintroduction of silver buckles. The man of laste will not be content for long Wanted - Full Kit of Shot Makking to page at a page black how the will be took for soul cash. Address But in long to gaze at a merely black bow. He will want a graceful buckle, and we may yet ve to see the boys wearing diamonds on their shoestrings -London Court Journal Dobblus-The field of art is wide: there is lenty of room to succeed in it. Pastells-That's so; when a man is intro duced to you as an "artist" it is hard to say whether he's a barber or a concert hall singer)-Puck.

lanks for sale by THE WICHITA EAGLE,

There is a class of unfortunates, one of whom is usually to be found in every school or community. They are often able, scholarly and witty; they have kind, generous hearts, yet they go stumbling stupidly through life, wounding the hearts and nerves of acquaintances and friends at

Mary Campbell belongs to this order of She spends a winter laboring faithutiv with a Sunday school class of poor hildren, and then mortally effends them by harshly telling them of their faults, and hoping that when they meet her in the autumn their conduct will be greatly improved. She anxiously recommends the minister, just after a tedious dis-course, to study Robertson's sermons as models of force and vivacity. She insists on talking to a men just married to a second wife of the virtues of the first. She gives handsome gowns and hats to her poorer consins, and invariably adds, "Be
